

ZERO TO FIVE

for our children, for our future

Reach

Every child has access to universal and targeted services to meet their unique needs

Families are aware of resources and how to access them

State and local systems are aligned to address unique community needs

High-quality services exist in each community

Equity

Every child, regardless of race, geography, or family income, has what they need to thrive

Decisions are informed by diverse family and community strengths and lived experiences

State and local leaders recognize the impacts of historic trauma and act to resolve inequities

Communities have the resources and support to respond to children's diverse cultural experiences

Commitment

Montanans value and prioritize early childhood through action

Messaging is based on the cultural values already present in communities

Engage community leaders to take action to improve the lives of children

Policy changes align with community goals and values

Coordination

Community partners coordinate to provide high-quality, easy-to-access services

Families navigate early childhood services and systems with ease

Partners focus on smooth transitions for families between services

Partners collaborate to increase early childhood system and service efficiency

Multi-sector partners engage in early childhood work

Community efforts inspiring statewide change

- Telling stories of local innovation and progress
- Developing policies and solutions alongside those most impacted
- Evaluating change and examining local and statewide data
- Engaging families to advocate for their needs
- Partnering across communities to build capacity and sustainability

